DETAILED ACTION

1. This Office action is in response to the Amendment and Remarks filed 15 December 2008.
2. Those objections or rejections not specifically addressed in this Office action are withdrawn in view of Applicants' amendments.
3. The Examiner acknowledges Applicants' perfection of their Deposit of Biological material, consequently the rejection under 35 U.S.C. § 112, first paragraph, for enablement as it relates to said Deposit of Biological Material is withdrawn.
4. The rejection under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) is withdrawn in view of Applicants' arguments (page 8 of the response).
5. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

6. Claims 13, 27, 33 and 34 remain rejected and claims 35 and 36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for alfalfa plant J-101 representative seed deposited with ATCC with Accession No. PTA-4814 and progeny produced therefrom comprising event J101, does not reasonably provide enablement for any glyphosate tolerant alfalfa plant comprising SEQ ID NO: 1 or 2. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims. This rejection is repeated for the reason of record as set forth in the last Office action mailed 24 July 2008. Applicant's arguments filed 15 December 2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicants argue that the claimed invention can be easily practiced by skilled artisans with little or no experimentation. Applicants argue that all that is required is the acquisition of seeds containing the pMON20998 genetic event from a descendent plant or from the ATCC, where sample seeds are deposited under accession number PTA-4814. Applicants argue that determining whether or not seeds from a descendent plant carry the event is a matter of performing any number of well-known sequence analyses. gene) encoding sequences between the junctions. Applicants argue that given the availability of the claimed subject matter and the ease of detection thereof, there is no reason for skilled artisans to attempt producing the claimed alfalfa plant de novo, neither would skilled artisans be inclined to do so (page 6 of the Remarks). These arguments are not found to be persuasive because the instant claims do not recite that the plant comprises the pMON20998 genetic event, hence Applicants are arguing a limitation not found in the claims.

7. Claims 4-6, 13, 27 and 33-35 remain rejected and claim 36 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. This rejection is repeated for the reason of record as set forth in the last Office action mailed 24 July 2008. Applicant's arguments filed 15 December 2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicants argue that skilled artisans would readily understand that this locus (the genetic locus comprising the insertion of pMON20998) can be predictably transferred from one genetic background to another by means of breeding or crossing. Indeed, the instant specification reviews this point when it states that the "invention provides a glyphosate tolerant alfalfa plant that has all of the physiological and morphological characteristics of the alfalfa event J-101 of claim 1 and the progeny plants and parts thereof" (see page 4, paragraph 1) and discloses that the locus can be inherited (see specification at page 10, line 19, though page 12, line 8). Applicants argue that certain progeny from such a cross would carry the locus in a genetic background different from each parent and would constitute other examples of alfalfa plants that embody the claim recitations (page 7 of the Remarks). These arguments are not found to be persuasive. The instant claims do not recite that the plant comprises event J-101. Hence Applicants are arguing a limitation not found in the claims.

Conclusion

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR § 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR § 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

9. Claims 1-3 and 10 are allowed.
10. Claims 4-6, 13, 27 and 33-35 remain rejected and claim 36 is rejected.
